

Relevance on funding or financing urban mobility policies and projects to achieve Sustainable, Safe, and Inclusive Mobility in Latin America and the Caribbean

Thursday, October 20, 2022 – 2:00 pm

OUTLINE

Sustainable Urban Mobility policies and strategic planning for their implementation are crucial to improve accessibility and quality of life. Nonetheless, this requires, besides a comprehensive and holistic technical approach, an integrated set of regulatory and financial instruments to meet these objectives.

This event then will focus on the relevance of funding or financing urban mobility policies and projects by presenting experiences that have been implemented in the Region and worldwide, where some, have been financially supported by National Governments. Also, an open discussion will be held to talk about barriers faced by local governments and, other financial challenges and opportunities, that countries in Latin America have identified to achieve a transformation in mobility that meets sustainable, safe, and inclusive standards.